Fund strategy

The Fund uses a simple systematic rules-based investment strategy that is designed to capitalize on equity market inefficiencies specific to the Nigerian equity market, as established by extensive in-house quantitative research. The strategy is commonly known as smart beta investing.

The Portfolio Managers draw constituents from the largest 40 stocks (by market capitalization) and screen these stocks based on the following anomalies: value, momentum, profitability and dividend yield. Weights assigned to stocks are screen-rank-driven.

Monthly Comments

Fund and market review

The Fund dropped by -4.6% during the month, outperforming its benchmark, the NSE 30 (total return) which dropped by -6.2%. The Fund delivered a total return -0.3% year to date compared to a total return of -10.6% and -8.9% for the NSE 30 and the NSEASI respectively. The fund's performance was aided by the portfolio re-balancing which was completed as at month end and led to changes to the portfolio's asset allocation.

The equity market was volatile during the month alternating between daily gains and losses as investors continued to focus on corporate earnings. Results in the banking space were mixed as GTBank, UBA posted better-than-average results while Access Bank posted results that lagged expectations with reduction in loans being a common denominator among the banks. The negative performance of the equity market outweighed the effects of continued improvement in the macroeconomic environment. The National Bureau of Statistics (NBS) released its Consumer Price Index (CPI) for the month of July showing a seventeenth consecutive slowdown in headline inflation to 11.1% (from 11.2% in June). Also, data released by the NBS showed a 1.5% year-on-year growth in Nigeria's GDP driven mainly by a 2.0% year-on-year growth in the non-oil sector.

The Fund manager sought to cushion the effect of the downward trend in the equity market by investing in high yielding money market instruments, taking into consideration, the model's prescribed asset allocation.

Fund and market outlook

We expect the equity market to remain volatile as foreign investors refocus on developed market and reflect on the impact of the upcoming 2019 elections. This provides a good entry point for long term investors. The Fund will be conscientiously managed to maximize returns.
